

Why Wait For Spring?

Advertorial by Niki Paisley

As summer draws to a close many people put their landscaping needs and wishes on hold, excited for spring to arrive so they can pick up where they left off. At OnGrowing Works our question would be, 'Why wait for spring?'

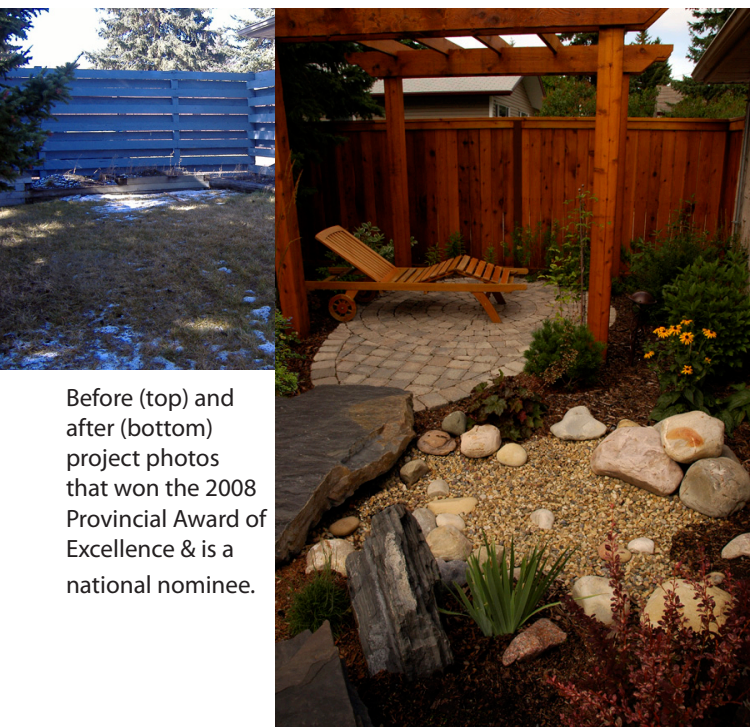

Believe it or not, planning your landscape doesn't have to end with the summer. "Fall and winter is the ideal time to plan a landscape," says Bruce Kay with OnGrowing Works. "There is more time to be reflective about the space and how you want to use and feel within that space. Lets face it, the bulk of our year is spent without leaves on the trees so why not take into consideration what the landscape has to offer year round." As an award winning design and construction firm, OnGrowing Works believes that the key to a successful landscape begins with a plan. There are many aspects of a landscape that have to be considered during the planning stage, whether it be renovating an existing landscape or starting from scratch. Through collaboration and client involvement during the design process, OnGrowing Works will help shape and create an outdoor living space that is both functional and exciting.

The designers at OnGrowing Works have the unique ability to see beyond the existing landscape and envision the space capturing what the homeowner is hoping to create. One of things that a homeowner can do to provide perspective for the designers of OnGrowing Works is gather pictures. "Because the homeowner lives in the space, they know what works and doesn't work in their outdoor living space. Pictures of those areas plus key views, both from inside and outside the house, are very helpful. Books and magazine photos are also capture the style and tastes of the homeowner."

OnGrowing Works understands that landscaping is an investment and that the landscape for every client is different. "Every design we do is custom and unique to that homeowner." After collaborating through the design process the homeowner is presented with a comprehensive designed package including a detailed Master Plan, Planting Plan, Irrigation Plan, Lighting Plan and a project binder which includes plant care sheets with pictures..

For over a decade OnGrowing Works has been renovating and beautifying the landscapes of Cochrane and surrounding area, winning multiple provincial awards and media attention. From small residential to large acreage projects, OnGrowing Works offers unique, custom designs and nature-scapes, offering clients the option to phase their project over a number of years. OnGrowing Works encourages homeowners to plan and book now for the 2010 season to avoid the spring rush.
